A few months ago, Pink demanded 72 bath towels backstage (the staff got her 96, just in case). After she left, 86 of them were still neatly folded on the shelf. Pink did polish off both a bottle of Courvoisier and Dom Pérignon, though.

When Shakira discovered a plastic squeeze bear of honey in her dressing room at a recent show, she made a staffer go get her "organic herbal" honey instead. Five jars were brought to her, four of which were never opened.

Pink, Shakira, the Hives and the Vines can get pretty much anything they want in their dressing rooms. It's what they leave behind that's interesting.

The Vines may sound like Nirvana, but the crew that cleaned their dressing room recently said they act more like mamas' boys—it was spotless. "It looked like they'd hired a maid," said a stunned production assistant. Also note the "please" on their rider (below).

Vines

- 24 x bottles Heineken
- 24 x bottles Corona (Limes and a Knife)
- 1 Bottle of Vodka
- 24 x cans of Coke
- 6 x cans Sprite
- 48 bottles water
- 12 x cans Diet Soda
- Assorted sandwiches, fruit (BANANAS if possible please), crackers and chips for 8 people
- Tea and Coffee—
- Fruit Juice (Cranberry, Orange and Grapefruit)

The Hives

In the Dressingroom

- Tea and Coffee
- 20 Clean Large Towels
- 60 Domestic Beers
- 15 x 1.5 litre bottles of Non-Carbonated Water
- 24 bottles/cans Coke
- 24 bottles/cans assorted sodas
- 3 L Orange Juice
- 2 L Sweetened Iced Tea
- 1 bottle of Bourbon Whiskey, i.e. Jack Daniel's or Jim Beam
- 1 bottle of Vodka
- 2 bottles of Red Wine
- Large Plastic Cups
- Large Glasses
- One large deli tray with cheese, vegetables (cucumber/carrots/tomatoes/lettuce) etc. complemented by bread & crackers.

The Hives left behind 60 mostly full but opened bottles of domestic beer and never touched their after-show sandwich spread. A lucky production assistant snagged the celebrity leftovers after dumping the wasted Coors.
